RamCT Blackboard courses usually are made available to students the Friday before a semester starts. Courses are usually made unavailable to students about two weeks after the end of a semester.

Instructors can make their RamCT Blackboard course available or unavailable to students before or after these standard open/close times.

1. Under Control Panel select Customization and then select Properties.

2. Under item 2, Set Availability, Make Course Available:

   Yes – students can see and access this course.

   No – students cannot see and access this course.

3. Click Submit.

Note: This does not impact whether instructors, assistant instructors, teaching assistants and designers can see or access the course.
